

Prof. Krzysztof Simon MD, PhD, specialist in internal medicine, infectious diseases hepatology and GI endoscopy; regional consultant of infectious diseases for Lower Silesia, Poland, currently Head of the I Department of Infectious Diseases Regional Specialist Hospital in Wrocław, and Head of the Department of Infectious Diseases and Hepatology, Wrocław Medical University, member of many Expert Groups. Author and co-author more than 646 scientific papers, 27 scientific books or textbooks, principal investigator for many international trials. His current fields of clinical and scientific interest include various aspects of infectious diseases, liver diseases – particularly viral origin, liver fibrosis and cirrhosis and its complications, HCC, HIV/AIDS, SARS-CoV2 infection.